Ingram stated they included input received from previous meetings, including a meeting staff had with Commissioner Green.

Ingram advised the only item that was new to the discussion was if the City will allow cannabis permits to transfer between owners if it remains in the same location but a change in ownership occurs. Ingram stated in speaking with the City’s attorney and researching other agencies, there was another solution which was to remove the Performance Standards regulation from the Zoning Ordinance and place them in another area of the Municipal Code. Commissioner Green stated he would like to see a Use Permit for cannabis operations that runs with the land. Community Development Director Ingram stated whether or not to allow the permit to run with the land had come up in the Cannabis working group’s meetings. Ingram advised if regulations remained within the Zoning Ordinance, the City’s legal standpoint would be first the permit would run with the land. Ingram stated if the intention was to make the permit non-transferable, they would need to look at locating it outside of the Zoning Ordinance.

Ingram stated the Use Permit for Cannabis operation would remain; however, the business owner would have to reapply for the operations permit and do the appropriate background checks with the Police Department. Ingram advised that would give more room to exercise the police powers if they do not comply and revoke a license.
